NEW YORK, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1922.

Mardi Gras Ball

for Welfare Work

on Shrove Tuesday

Dance to Be Held for Southern

Industrial Educational

Association.

HE New York auxiliary of the Mardi Gras ball for the benefit of their work on the night of February 28 in

For years past the auxiliary has marked the last day of the social season with a pageant, but it is expected

ried on is not one of Americanization

but as it deals with Americans it is one rather preserving them from a doom which they have not wilfully incurred Instruction also is carried incurred Instruction also is carried into the homes of the mountaineers.

Mrs. Algernon Sydney Sullivan is president of the association. The other officers are Mrs. H. Hartley Jenkins, Mrs. Livingston Rowe Schuyler, Mrs. J. Lowrie Bell. Mrs. Henry W. Chappell, Mrs. Robert L. Niles, Mrs. Juan Ceballos and Miss Caroline T. Burkham.

Among the rairons and patronesses.

Among the patrons and patronesses are Bishop and Mrs. James Henry Darlington, Suffragan Bishop and Mrs. Herbert Shipman, Justice and Mrs. Ed-ward R. Finch, Prof. and Mrs. H. Fair-

Southern Industrial Educational Association will give a

Mrs. Vanderbilt to Open Her Home to Public for Charity

Fritz Kreisler, Eminent Violinist, to Give Recital at the Fifth Avenue House in Aid of Service Work of Broad Street Hospital.

THE public will have an opportunity of passing an afternoon in one of the most imposing of homes in this city—that of Mrs. Vanderbilt, at Fifth avenue, Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth streets-on March 17. The occasion is to be a recital by Fritz Kreisler for the benefit of the social service work of the Broad Street Hospital, in the increasing importance of which Mrs. Vanderbilt takes a deep interest,

The eminent violinist will open his recital at 3 o'clock. The business end of the benefit, which is to be one of the important incidents of the coming month and will be typical of social life in Lent, is being handled by Miss Beth Evans at 8 West Fortieth street under the supervision of Mrs. Henry Rogers Winthrop, to whom checks for the tickets may be made

While the residence of Mrs. Vanderbilt was a center from which radiated numerous phases of relief work during and immediately following the war, the recital will mark the opening of the mansion, with its ballroom capable of accommodating several hundred persons, to the public for the first time in several years.

When Mrs. Vanderbilt thus opened her house in the past it was invariably for a charitable project, the last entertainment of the kind being a bazaar in the ballroom under the direction of the late Miss Amy Townsend for the mission work of the Protestant Episcopal Church among American Indians. Family mourning in recent years closed the residence to any form of private or public events until the ball there on January 30.

Recent happenings, some of them, unfortunately, concerning the passing of familiar figures, have served to draw the attention to the dimmest American past of some families in the present foreground of society.

A few days ago there was recorded the transfer of a parcel of property at 393 Greenwich street, near North Moore. The seller was Mr. Clement March of 25 Washington Square. The purchaser was a firm of coffee dealers that will erect a warehouse upon the site of the present structure that is a link between the present and the period of the American Revolution. The original deed bears the date of 1785 and the name of Gen. Morgan Lewis, one of America's history makers and the ancestor of Mr. March and several one of America's history makers and the ancestor of Mr. March and several other men and women of local present note. A singular feature of the facts brought out in the transfer was the information that, while the property had remained in the family nearly a century and a half, it had never been encumbered by a mortgage.

Mr. March represents the fifth generation of the descendants of Gen

Mr. March represents the fifth generation of the descendants of Gen. Lewis, who bought the property and who died at an advanced age in 1844, one of the last survivors of the Revolutionary period. He died in his house in Attorney street, where his descendants still own property. Margaret Lewis, daughter of the General, married the Maturin Livingston of his day, who died in 1860. Their daughter died in 1883 as the widow of Rawlins Lowndes, and the children of Mrs. Lowndes were Mrs. John P. March, who died in 1893; Mrs. George B. Chase, who died in 1906, and Mrs. Philip Schuyler, whose death occurred in 1915.

ier, whose death occurred in 1915.

Mr. Clement March is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John P. March, and members of the same generation and cousins of Mr. March are Mrs. Royal Phelps Carroll and Mrs. Howard Townsend, children of the late Mrs.

The name of Miss Heien Lispenard Stewart Trevor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graff Trevor, who was married to Mr. Charles J. Coulter last Wednesday, is in its construction enough to excite the interest of New York antiquarians who like to delve into the relations between the past and present of society. The bride is a great-granddaughter of the Lispenard Stewart who was the father of Mrs. Frank Spencer Witherbee and Messrs. William Rhinelander and Lispenard Stewart. Wednesday's bride may run william Rhinelander and Lispenard Stewart. Wednesday's blue hay the her finger back through the intricacies of her tabulated descent to the name of David Lispenard, whose name appears on the preserved charter of Trinity Church, granted by King William III. in 1693. She also will find among her ancestors the names of Anthony Rutgers, John B. Trevor and Jacob Schleffelin, who died nearly two centuries ago and whose grandson founded one of the oldest of American business concerns. The achievements of the ancestors of Wednesday's bride have found permanent record in the names

As the historian as well as the compiler of society, Louis Kelier, who died last Thursday after a long and wasting illness in his sixty-fourth year, held a unique position before the American as well as the New York public. It had been said of him, and probably without exaggeration, that he was known to more persons here and abroad than any other one resident of New York. This peculiar position he held was created through his promotion of the Social Register thirty-five years ago and his personal direction since of that unique volume of nearly 200,000 names, or, rather, series of eighteen volumes, repre-

Mr. Keller was not a historian in the accepted sense of the term. He never wrote of society, save as he compiled his annual statistics concerning American society's characteristics of personnel. Yet through the volumes of names and addresses he published from year to year he became a recorder of an important phase of American as well as of European life.

Through the registers may be traced the changes in representative American society through three and a half decades. His accurate knowledge of the composition of society and his recognition of the best social traditions, his rigidly maintained standards of eligibility and his conservative broadness as society expanded through the years gave his publications their authority.

A glance through the first issue of the Social Register of 1887 and through the last of 1922 reveals some of the changes that have come about in New k in a little more than a generation. In 1887 Mr. and Mrs. William Astor were living at 350 Fifth avenue, at the southwest corner of Thirty-fourth street, on the site of which stands the Astoria, part of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The late Col. Astor, their son, unmarried. At 338 Fifth avenue lived the late Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor, while their son, William Waldorf Astor, the later Viscount Astor, lived at 8 East Thirty-third street with his wife, who was Miss Paul of Philadelphia. The Thirty-third street house is standing, although made over for business purpose

Mrs. Lispenard Stewart was living at 6 Fifth avenue, and Mrs. Paran Stevens at 244. With Mrs. Stevens was living "Miss Paget." Alberta Paget, a sister of Sir Arthur Henry Paget, who married the daughter of Mrs. Paran Stevens, and of Mr. Almeric Hugh Paget, who later married the of the late William C. Whitney. Both Lady Paget and Mrs. Almeric Paget are dead, and Almeric now is Baron Queenborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stevens Sands, Jr., were living in Garden City. Mrs. Sands now is Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. Messrs. Lewis Morris Rutherfurd and Winthrop Rutherfurd were living in the family homestead at 175 Second avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Algernon Sydney Sullivan lived at 16 West

Eleventh street, where Mrs. Sullivan still resides. Mrs. Mary Mason Jones, the grande dame of her day, was living at 1 East Fifty-seventh street, the house that later became the home of Mrs. Paran Stevens, then of Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, and finally to-day the uptown branch

The name of Vanderbilt was represented by Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt and her son George, at 640 Fifth avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbut, at 1 West Fifth-seventh street (the house had just been erected and the Fifty-eighth street portion had not been added); Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt ("Smith"), at 660 Fifth avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt ("Mrs. Anthony-Torrance"), at 459 Fifth avenue. The latter house city, which is in the fiftleth year of

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew and the first Mrs. Depew were living at 22 The association's record for the year Fig. and Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew and the first Mrs. Depew were living at 22 East Forty-fifth street. The late Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Fish lived at 51 Irving 1921 showed but forty-four deaths out place, and near them were Mr. Stuyvesant Fish and the late Mrs. Fish, at 20 of a registration of more than six Gramercy Park. In that immediate neighborhood, at 22 Gramercy Park, lived thousand bables. The association David Dudley Field. Mr. and Mrs. John Bigelow were at 21 Gramercy Park. maintains stations where doctors and Their son, Poultney, and his first wife, who was Miss Jaffray, were abroad. nurses supervise the health of babies. The late Mr. and Mrs. Abram S. Hewitt lived at 9 Lexington avenue, their and instruct their mothers in their names being recorded as "Mr. and Mrs. A. Stevens Hewitt." Their daughters proper care.

still live there.

Mrs. Moses Taylor, widow of the great financier, lived at 122 Fifth average. Mr. Francis K. Pendleton, then unmarried, was recorded as living at the Knickerbocker Club, which then was at Fifth avenue and Thirty-second street. The late Alexander Hamilton was the president of the club and the late Fredict Bronson the treasurer. Mr. Bronson also was secretary of the Coaching Club, of which the late Col. William Jay was then the president. The Coaching Club then had its own home at 319 Fifth avenue. What is left of that club now is maintained in the Knickerbocker Club.

The late John J. Townsend was president of the Union Club, which then was at Twenty-first street and the avenue. Mr. Depew was president of the Union League Club, and Mr. Elbridge T. Gerry was commodore of the New York Yacht Club. Daniel Huntington was president of the Century Club and Flichard Watson Glider was chairman of the club's committee on literature. The executive head of the Coney Island Jockey Club was Leonard W. Jerome. The Lotos Club was at 147 Fifth avenue, with the late Whitelaw Reid as its president.

News and Sidelights of Society W

MISS

ADA HEINZE

CLEOPATRA

EN CASSEROLE"

Many Weddings to Mark Week's Social Activities

Miss Alice Delafield Dean to Be Wedded to Mr. Robert R. Livingston Thursday.

EVERAL weddings are scheduled important being that of Miss Alice Delafield Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Dean of 780 Park avenue, to Mr. Robert R. Livingston, son of Mrs. Robert R. Livingston of 11
Washington Square North and Northwood, Clermont, Columbia county, N. Y. It will take place on Thursday afternoon in St. James's Church,
Madison avenue and Seventy-first Claibrne, James B. Pike, John Stroth-

Robert R. Livingston of Clermont. He Barron G. Collier and James M. Crank. is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Tailer.

At her marriage Miss Dean will be attended by her sister, Miss Louise Potter Dean, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Bould and Miss Mar-guerite Tiaeder of this city, Miss Mar-benefit of the library of Greer Memorial garet Neithercut of Bridgeport, Conn., House of Hope Farm, in Dutchess and Miss Elizabeth Campbell of Chi-

Club.

Mr. Livingston and his bride will sail on Saturday for a Mediterranean trip. They will spend the summer at Northwood, the old Livingston place at Cheviot on the Hudson, near Tivoli.

ward R. Finch, Prof. and Mrs. H. Fair-field Osborn, Gen. and Mrs. Oliver B. Bridgam, Mmes. Louis Livingston Seaman, Percy Hamilton Stewart, William Neison Cromwell, J. Wray Cleveland, Stuart G. Gibboney, J. Todhunter Thompson, Harry Kearsarge Knapp, Horace Barnard, William Adams Kissam, Frank Brinley Porter, Henry Benedict Lockwood, Geraldyn Redmond, James Lees Laidhaw, William Barbour, Henry Parish, Charles Elliot Warren, Howard Van Sinderen and Clough Coshy Overton. Tickets at $5 each may be obtained from Mrs. Junn Cebsillos, 470 Park avenue, and from Mrs William H. Burr, 9 East Thirty-ninth street. Southern Society to Hold Dixie Dance

The New York Southern Society an organization composed of Southerners living in this city, will hold their annual for this week, one of the most Dixle dinner and dance on the night of important being that of Miss Washington's Birthday in the Hotel

Madison avenue and Seventy-first street, and will unite two members of old families.

Miss Dean is related to the Delafield and the late Bishop Henry C. Potter families and Mr. Livingston is a great-great-grandson of Chanceillor.

Hope Farm Benefit Bridge on Tuesday

An afternoon bridge party for the and Miss Elizabeth Campbell of Chicago, all classmates of the bride at the Masters School, from which she was graduated.

Mr. Livingston will have Mr. William L. Nicoll for his best man, and the Messre. Gray MacW. Bryan, Cleveland E. Dodge, J. Horton Ijams, Edmund P. Livingston, Roland L. Redmond, Howland S. Davis, J. Fahys Cook and William M. Carson for ushers.

The ceremony, which will be at 4 o'clock, will be performed by Bishop William T. Manning, assisted by the Rev. Frank W. Crowder, the rector. It will be followed by a reception in the assembly room of the Cosmopolitan Ciub.

Mr. Livingston, and his bride will beferts.

Third Coffee Dance To-morrow Night

St. Patrick's Cathedral will be the scene of the marriage on Saturday of Miss Margaret Thomson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Thomson, of 49 Park avenue, to Capt. John B. Bellinger, Jr., U. S. A. Mgr. George J. Warfing, chaplain at Governors Island, will perform the ceremony, which will be followed by a reception at Sherry's. Miss Thomson will be attended by her sister, Miss Sarah S. Thomson, as maid of honor and Miss Lisette Riggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Riggs of Washington, and cousin of the bridegroom, as flower girl. There will be no bridesmaids.

Mr. Rene DuC, Bellinger will be his brother's best man and the ushers will be Lieut. Duncan Hodges, U. S. A. and the Messrs Frederic C. and Edmund B. Bellinger, brothers of the bridegroom; Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., and Tracey Coudert, his cousins; Howard Davison, George Leary, Jr., and Richard Holliday.

Captain Bellinger is a son of Col.

George Leary, Jr., and Richard Holliday.

Captain Bellinger is a son of Cot.
John B. Bellinger, U. S. A., and Mrs.
Bellinger, who was Miss Marie C. Coudert, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederic R. Coudert of this city.

He is a nephew of Mr. Frederic R. Coudert and was graduated from West Point in 1918. During the war he commanded Battery B. Seventy-seventh Field Artillery, of the Fourth Division, in the battles of the Alsne-Marne. St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne and the defensive sector on the Vesle River.

Miss Elizabeth Forrester La Boyteaux, Mrs. Charles de Rham, Jr., Mrs. R. Hinton Pērry, Major Levillard Spencer, Messrs. Samuel J. Wagstaff, Bradish J. Carroll, Park Benjamin 3d. Edmund Wiegand, John Carrington, Jr., and Keith Lorenz. Several debutantes have promised to assist at the denre.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS IN SOCIETY

STETTINIUS

MONDAY-Women of society to run the Biltmore to-day in aid of the Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis. Third of the Coffee Dances, Cosmopolitan Club.

Photo

Fotogra

VVVVVVVVV

VIRGINIA RYAN

Concert Will Be

Held for Benefit

of Diet Kitchen

N interesting concert for the benefit of the New York Diet

Kitchen Association will be held next Tuesday morning in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-As-toria. It will be of pleasure to music lovers, and also will aid one of the oldest health organizations of this

its work among mothers and babies

Mme. Susan Metcalf Casals, soprans

PHOTOGRAPHED WHILE MAKING

A SNAP SHOT at PALM BEACH

Photo by Wide World Photos

Annual dance of the Tennessee So-ciety of New York, the Plaza. TUESDAY - Morning concert for the benefit of the New York Diet

Kitchen Association, grand ball-room of the Waldorf-Astoria. Musical comedy, "Scandals of the Shore," for the benefit of the Silver Cross Day Nursery, ballroom of the Plaza.

Bridge for the benefit of Greer,
House, Women's University Club. Hamilton McK. Twombly, a

Annual Dixie dinner and dance of the New York Southern Society,

National California Club meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria, the program presenting Miss Hilda Spong, Mrs. Thomas Grant Springler, Miss Olivia Gertrude Heffron. Louis Jennings, Miss Esther Rhodes and Cosmo McMoon. THURSDAY — Wedding of Miss | SATURDAY — Wedding of Miss Alice Delafield Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Dean, to Mr. Robert R. Livingston, St. s's Church, Madison avenue and Seventy-first street, after-

Dance for the benefit of the Free Industrial School for Crippled Children, Waldorf-Astoria. Exhibition of Gainsborough's "Blue Boy" for the benefit of the Fifth Avenue Hospital, Duveen Gallery, 720 Fifth avenue. Luncheon for Miss Stella F. Todd

by Mrs. William C. Demorest and Miss Charlotte Demorest, the

FRIDAY-Bridge for the benefit of the Inwood House of Rest for Consumptives, the Plaza, after-

Bridge and dance for the benefit of Briarcliff Holiday House, under the auspices of the Dows School Alumnæ, the Plaza.

Dance of the Bachelors, Della Robbia room, the Vanderbilt, Margaret Thomson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Steiner Thomson, to Capt. John Bellinger Beilinger, Jr., U. S. A., St. Patrick's Cathedral, 3:30,

WWW.

Miss GRACE HELEN TALBOT

as QUEEN ELIZABETH in The

SPENCE SCHOOL PLAY

C UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, NY

Wedding of Miss Stella Fackler Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ryerson Todd, to Mr. Gilbert Curtis Demorest, St. Thomas's Church, 4 P. M.

Wedding of Miss Katharine Twyford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beaumont Twyford, to Mr. Ernest Frederick Greeff, All Angels' Church, 4 P. M.

Wedding of Miss Kathryn Stuart Keen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harold Keen, to Mr. Les-lie Reynolds Schauffler, Christ Episcopal Church, Greenwich, Mrs. Elon Huntington Hooker reception at the Colony Club to introduce her daughter, Miss Ade-laide F. Hooker. Cannon Ball dance in aid of the Dug Out, grill room of the Lor-